Mr. Woodward is not running for governor of this state. He is not even walking for it. He is quietly waiting to be snowed under.

Jeff Davis is out with a letter attacking General Sherman. The old confederate chief is too late with his attacks. He should have tried to attack Sherman in the spring of 1865.

The Jefferson City (Missouri) Tribune, publishes this notice to its democratic friends: "Every democratic officeholder must take off his coat and go to work to keep the party in power. We want no sugar coated mugwump doctrines in this state or county." That is what the democratic office holders are doing in Wisconsin. They haven't read the president's order, in fact it wasn't made to be read, anyway not to be obeyed.

The Rev. H. Stone Richardson, of the Methodist Episcopal church, was interviewed the other day at Oshkosh, and he said that "the Methodist church as an organization was not and could not be in favor of the third party movement. While the church was, and always had been, in favor of prohibition, it was not authorized by its discipline or economy to obtain it through any political party, nor to take sides with one political organization to the exclusion of another. He said he was opposed to the manufacture, sale and use of intoxicating beverages, but never felt authorized, as a minister, to take sides with one political party as being better qualified to obtain prohibition than another. Of the twelve bishops of the Methodist church of the north but two of them, so far as he had been able to ascertain, were in favor of the third party movement. He had had republicans in his congregation, and he could not berate them by telling how bad republicanism was, nor tell a prohibitionist or member of some other party how bad he was by comparing his politics with those of a member of another organization. Mr. Richardson said that when he was ordained a minister the superior placed his hands upon his head and told him to preach the word of God and of Jesus of Nazareth, and he had never felt authorized to take a partisan view of politics from the pulpit." This is sensible talk, and its sentiments are largely those of the great mass of the members of that church. The attempt of certain ministers to turn the church into a political organization, will prove a total failure.

The Harper's Weekly, in its current issue, prints a portrait of Mr. Elihu Root, who has been elected chairman of the republican county committee of New York, and accompanying the splendid portrait of this young, able and enterprising republican, is a brief sketch of his career, which reads as follows:

In 1879 he was nominated by the republican county convention for judge of the court of common pleas, and though he was defeated, he polled a very large vote, a good part of which was cast as a personal compliment to him. President Arthur appointed him United States district attorney for the southern district of New York, and he held this position with credit to himself until President Cleveland's appointee succeeded him. In 1871 Mr. Root was prominently identified with the reform movement in the republican party. He has always been a republican, but never a politician in the sense that he has made politics his business or got a livelihood by it.

Portraits of the prominent personages of the republican county committee, who are the "boys" of the "machine," were published in the Weekly in June, and a description of the methods by which the "machine" has been managed. With this kind of politics and this kind of politicians Mr. Root has never had anything to do. His election to the chairmanship of the committee is therefore a new departure in recent years for the committee. He has gained a prominence through his profession and not by practical political work.

This is a handsome compliment to Mr. Root, but there is something about it which brings to the foreground the amazing inconsistency of Harper's Weekly. It gives Mr. Root credit of being a leader in the reform movements in the republican party, of never making politics his business, and of never keeping company with "machine" politicians. While holding that relation to the politics of New York he held the office of United States district attorney for the southern district of New York. He was a high-minded, able, clean-handed, official; but when Mr. Cleveland set his peculiar reform machine in operation, he kicked Mr. Root out of the service, and put in his stead Mr. Dorschimer, a wire-pulling democratic politicians and yet Harper's Weekly is so wedded to Cleveland's administration that it did not have the fairness or the moral courage to condemn it for grossly violating the civil service law.

The other day the New York Tribune printed a paragraph on its editorial page which attracted very general attention for the reason that the sentiment of the paragraph was strongly in opposition to the well known position of that paper on the question of protection. The paragraph in full is as follows:

Any reduction in the duty on sugar quickly lessens the cost of living for laboring people. So long as the conspiracy which seized the government of Louisiana by crime, and which defrauds a majority of the people at every election, continues to send democratic representatives to congress, the Tribune does not consider that they have any right to plead protection as a pretext for a duty which is contrary to democratic principles.

There is no paper in the country more surprised over this little "flop" of the Tribune, than the Christian Union, and in answering the great protection journal, it says: "Most people who believe in protection have supposed that one section of the country has the same right to it as another. But, according to the Tribune this is a mistake. It is right to levy a general tax in order to assist the mine owners and manufacturers of Pennsylvania, but it is wrong to levy a general tax in order to assist the sugar planters of Louisiana. The state of Pennsylvania has fourteen times as much wealth as the state of Louisiana, but this does not invalidate Pennsylvania's claim, nor give one to Louisiana. We should all be ruined if we had free trade with the pauper laborers of England and France; but benefited if we had free trade with the slave labor of the West Indies and Brazil. All of this is extremely curious; yet, as a revenue reformer we are inclined to welcome the Tribune as a valuable ally in the work of revenue reform. Taxation must be reduced; we believe all students of our condition agree on that. Either we must repeal the taxes on whisky and tobacco, or repeal those on food and clothing. The right principle is certainly to remove those taxes first which rest upon the necessities of life, and sugar come among the first of these. The present tax upon sugar is seventy-three per cent. Last year $50,000,000 were collected from it; $40,000,000 of this sum were paid by people almost wholly dependent upon the earnings of their labor. If all the strikes of the year had been successful, the laborers of the country would not have gained as much as they annually pay in the tax upon sugar. We agree with the conclusions of the Tribune; the less said about its reasoning the better." In 1880 the country laughed a good deal over General Hancock's New Jersey letter in which he said that the tariff question was a "local issue." Everybody thought that sounded funny, and the opponents of Hancock in that campaign said the statement was the utterance of a man who knew nothing whatever regarding the tariff question. But since that time public sentiment has changed, and many very intelligent men now admit that there was a good deal of truth in the statement of General Hancock. A tariff law that is good for one section of the country may not be a good thing for another. Louisiana wants a protective duty on sugar because it manufactures twenty-five million dollars worth every year, but it doesn't want it on lumber or iron. Ohio wants wants a prohibitory tariff on wool but wants to abolish it on sugar. And so it goes; what is good for one is not good for another, at least people are apt to look at the tariff question in that light. And the Tribune, which made a good deal of fun of General Hancock's letter, now virtually admits that the tariff is a local issue, and that while a tariff should protect Pennsylvania, Ohio, and some other states, it should not protect the sugar of Louisiana. Probably this is what the Chicago Times would call "flexible journalism."

Facts Worth Knowing.

In all diseases of the nasal mucous membrane the remedy used must be non-irritating. The medical profession has been slow to learn this. Nothing satisfactory can be accomplished with douches, snuffs, powders, syringes, astringents or any similar application, because they are all irritating, do not thoroughly reach the affected surfaces and should be abandoned as worse than failures. A multitude of persons who had for years borne all the worry and pain that catarrh can inflict testify to radical and permanent cures wrought by Ely's Cream Balm.

Prince Napoleon Much Put Out.

When Prince Napoleon quite lately was in Rome he went to visit the Vatican galleries, being, as is well known, a fervent admirer of the fine arts. One day he happened to be in the Loggie di Raffaello when the signal was given that the pope was about to traverse the galleries in going to his apartments. Now, though the saintly Princess Clothilde, sister of Humbert I, and wife of Prince Napoleon, is, as all the world knows, the devoutest of Catholics, yet "Plon Plon" himself has not been celebrated for his devotion to the church. But now, all of a sudden, he thought he should much like just to see the pope, himself unseen. He used every effort, therefore, to induce one of the papal gendarmes to let him stay hidden in some nook while his holiness passed. But all in vain; the official was just as impenetrable to the prayers of a prince as he has often been found to be to many a tourist under similar circumstances, and his highness went off in a huff.—Boston Traveler.

Excitement in Texas.

Great excitement has been caused in the vicinity of Paris, Tex., by the remarkable recovery of Mr. J. E. Corley, who was so helpless he could not turn in bed, or raise his head; every body said he was dying of consumption. A trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery was sent him. Finding relief, he bought a large bottle and a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills; by the time he had taken two boxes of pills and two bottles of the discovery, he was well and had gained in flesh thirty-six pounds.

ENGLAND'S ATTITUDE.

LORD RANDY OUTLINES THE HOME AND FOREIGN POLICY.

A Very Decided Stand Taken on the Bulgarian Question—A Home Ruler Speaks Hopefully of the References to Ireland—Khalbars and the Regency at Sofia—Spanish Rebels Condemned—Terrible Colliery Disaster.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Lord Randolph Churchill in a speech at Dartford Saturday evening said the house of commons had become a slave to the caprices of the Radicals and Parnellites, and declared it to be imperatively necessary that some means should be found of closing debates within a reasonable time.

Referring to the situation in Bulgaria, Lord Churchill said it was impossible at this time to foreshadow the outcome of the present state of affairs; still the government had reason to hope that a peaceful settlement of the differences existing would be effected. Concerning the connection of Austria with Bulgarian affairs, Lord Churchill said that England ought to support Austria in any difficulty with Russia which might arise out of the attempt of the latter to seize Bulgaria.

Recurring to the Irish question, he said if the people of Ireland persisted in following the advice of agitators, their action would lead to further repressive measures on the part of the government. The commerce of Ireland, however, had begun to improve, and with a good harvest the people might look forward to brighter times. The government, Lord Churchill said, had no disposition to resort to measures of repression, and would resort to none that were not made necessary by the conduct of the Irish people.

"Lord Randolph Churchill made a remarkably bold attempt to figure before the world as a real leader of the times and maker of history. It will be admitted by his bitterest enemies that he has succeeded. With the prime minister abroad, and the majority of his colleagues out of town, he dealt with the most complicated questions of the hour with the fluency and assurance of a master of ministerial policy. Beaconsfield in his best days never appeared more at ease, more authoritative, more conscious of ascendency, than Churchill was Saturday. The evidence of self-reliance throughout the delivery of his address was the subject of general comment. * * * His references to foreign affairs were spirited, and showed a warlike tendency for which no one was prepared. Instead of sounding the notes of an English retreat, as was everywhere anticipated, he used terms unmistakably intended to warn Russia that the part she proposes to play in Bulgaria will meet with resistance and must be modified. * * * Churchill's references to Ireland were also a surprise. Everybody looked for a blood-stirring announcement of coercion. But instead of trumpeting coercion he advised moderation. * * * He gave the landlords a hint to keep quiet and deal fairly with their tenants, holding out as an inducement the promise of a big land-purchase scheme next year generous enough to relieve them of all their difficulties. It must be confessed that this announcement is received with a feeling of intense relief, giving rise as it does to hopes that a more peaceful winter than any one looked for may after all be experienced. If the government exert their influence with the land-owners in the direction outlined by Lord Randolph they will find the Nationalists ready to meet them half way."

At Tory headquarters it is stated that the policy of the government in relation to the land purchase bill foreshadowed by Lord Randolph Churchill will be to buy the land outright, destroying the absentee classes and renting and selling to tenants and tenant purchasers. One of the leading features of the scheme as reported is the creation of small allotments for the peasantry.

The Viceroy at the Theatre.

DUBLIN, Oct. 4.—The marquis of Londonderry, the viceroy of Ireland, with his wife, attended the Gaiety theatre Saturday evening. When they entered the theater they were vociferously cheered by those occupying seats in the lower part of the house and vigorously hissed by the occupants of the gallery. The orchestra played "God Save the Queen," and at its conclusion the crowd in the gallery sang "God Save Ireland."

Moonlighters Set at Liberty.

DUBLIN, Oct. 4.—Four moonlighters, arrested for complicity in the Poale bridge raid, were discharged Saturday for want of evidence against them.

DEATH IN THE COLLIERY.

Twenty-Four Men Probably Dead.—Seven Bodies Recovered.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—An explosion occurred on Saturday in Altoft's colliery, at Wakefield, near Leeds. Eight men were rescued alive from the burning mine, seven were found dead, and seventeen are missing. No hope is entertained that any of the latter may be found alive.

The London-American Exhibition.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—A large body of workmen are busy in preparing twenty-two acres of ground at Earlscourt, which has never before been built upon, for the proposed American exhibition. The builders have contracted to erect the buildings in forty days when the ground is ready for them. The buildings will be suitable for occupancy about the beginning of February next. The engineer and landscape gardener have completed their plans for the grounds, which will be occupied by Buffalo Bill and his Wild West combination. Townsend Percy has been appointed literary director of the enterprise.

BRUIN AT SOFIA.

The Bulgarians Trying to Come to Terms with Him.

SOFIA, Oct. 4.—Gen. Kaulbars on Saturday demanded of the Bulgarian government an explicit reply to the Russian ultimatum within twenty-four hours. The Bulgarian regency immediately had a meeting and at the close of the council, the whole of the members went in a body to Gen. Kaulbars in order to make it clear to him that at present and for constitutional reasons the ministry find themselves utterly unable to postpone the elections. So far as setting free the officers was concerned the government were unable to interfere in a matter which is already being dealt with by the authorities, with whom the decision as to prosecution alone rests.

Gen. Kaulbars replied very energetically that the emperor of Russia knew the laws of Bulgaria too well for anything he desired to run counter to them. Finally Gen. Kaulbars consented to telegraph to the czar the view taken by the Bulgarians, but added that the emperor would certainly not withdraw any of the just demands he had made.

Sunday the ministry addressed a note to Gen. Kaulbars announcing that the advice given in the Russian note of Sept. 27 will be followed so far as it is in harmony with the laws and constitution; but that the government regard the setting of the officers at liberty and the postponement of the elections as contrary to constitutional principles. From different parts of the province, where the Kaulbars circular has just been published, protests against that document are beginning to come in. In Philippopolis and other cities demonstrations have taken place against the circular, particularly in opposition to the demand for the release of the officers.

Europe Will Settle It.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—The European powers have entered fully on the negotiations for the appointment of a successor to Prince Alexander.

Germany Wants To Be Ready.

BERLIN, Oct. 4.—The Kreutz Zeitung says the government will ask the reichstag to vote a military budget for an unlimited period instead of the customary term of seven years.

VILLACAMPA'S DAUGHTER'S APPEAL.

The Spanish Insurgents Found Guilty and Sentenced To Be Shot.

MADRID, Oct. 4.—Two courts-martial, comprising seventeen generals and four colonels, attended the celebration of mass at 7:30 o'clock Saturday morning and immediately thereafter began their duties of trying the insurgent officers who took part in the revolt at Gil Blas barracks, among whom was Gen. Villacampa. Senorita Villacampa, daughter of the general, met the officers of the court at the door of the prison in which her father is confined, and implored them to be merciful to her parents. She was joined in her appeal by the wife of another of the imprisoned officers and both ladies were carried from the scene in a fainting condition. The courts-martial found fourteen of the accused guilty, and they were sentenced to death by the war council. These include Gen. Villacampa, three officers of lower grade, five sergeants, three corporals and two civilians. It is believed that only seven of the condemned men will be shot. Demonstrations in favor of pardoning the prisoners are feared and the authorities are taking precautions against them.

VALUABLE FOR LABOR REFORMERS.

What the Annual Report of the National Labor Bureau Will Contain.

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 4.—The second annual report of the bureau of labor, will be a much more comprehensive document than the report laid before congress last winter. A thorough examination has been made of the relations of convict labor to free labor, and every penitentiary, jail and work-house in the United States where the inmates are employed in industrial pursuits has been visited by the agents of the bureau. Their reports will be carefully submitted and, taking these tables as a basis, it is believed that the extent to which the independent laborer or mechanic is affected by the prison workers can be shown with sufficient exactness to serve as a guide for future legislation on the subject. The report will also include statistics touching labor strikes in this country. The inquiries of the bureau on this subject cover a period of time ranging from January, 1881, down to July of the present year. The full report will probably be completed about the beginning of the coming year.

Aveling and Liebknecht En Route.

MRS. AVELING.

"The doctor and his party are sent to this country by the social Democratic party, and their engagement will expire on the 20th of December. They have gone to New England, and will speak in Boston and other cities. Then they will go to Chicago, speaking in Buffalo, Cleveland, Cincinnati and St. Louis. Their return will be by way of Baltimore and Washington. During their stay in New York efforts will be made to have the doctor address the Nineteenth Century club, and Herr Liebknecht will probably deliver an address."

Two Millions for Limprecht.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 4.—Charles Limprecht is an old, poverty-stricken shoemaker, 69 years of age, who on Saturday instituted proceedings to get possession of a legacy of $2,000,000 left to his now deceased wife by her cousin, Charles Link, who died some thirty years ago in Batavia, Java. Link was a good-for-nothing in his youth, who deserted from the Prussian army, and later enlisted at Amsterdam to go to India. There he began to speculate and amassed a large fortune. He bought several vessels and carried on an extensive business. He died a bachelor and willed his fortune to his cousin. Her whereabouts were not known, and some years afterwards were accidentally discovered. The old couple had no money, and did not succeed in raising the necessary funds. A short time ago Limprecht was again notified through the Holland consul at New York that the money was lying still in trust for him.

One More Bank Thief Discovered.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—On Saturday, Sept. 4, Otto Baumann, receiving teller of the Union Dime Savings institution, left the bank with the understanding that he was to have a vacation of two weeks. On the Monday following he appeared at the bank for the purpose, as he said, of correcting a mistake in his books. He pored over the books for a few minutes and then disappeared. He has not been seen since. Several days after he had gone, an item in his books aroused suspicion, and a deficit of $19,152 was discovered. Inspector Byrnes was immediately communicated with, and for the last two weeks he has been searching for Baumann without success. Vice President Silas B. Dutcher said Saturday night that Baumann had been appropriating the funds of the bank for the last seven months.

Will Investigate Gen. Miles.

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 4.—The Post says Gen. Miles will soon have an opportunity to explain his reasons for disobeying the orders of the war department in accepting the surrender of Geronimo conditionally. A court of inquiry is to be instituted to decide whether a court martial should be ordered. The Post says Gen. Miles report was received with considerable indignation by the president.

Regarding Mormon Immigration.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—No more Mormons will be landed here. Their representative in this city, Elder Hart, says the doors of Castle Garden are too inhospitable, and hereafter the new comers will be landed in Philadelphia. It was said at the Guion office Friday that that company would not bring over any more Mormon immigrants.

The Attorney General at His Post.

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 4.—Attorney General Garland returned to Washington Saturday from his vacation spent at Hominy Hill and resumed his duties at the department of justice.

"You out to day, my friend, is this cold wind? I thought you were sick in bed with a cold." He said nothing but smiled a jolly smile and led me to the apothecary's shop, and pointing to a big advertisement of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, said: "Thereby hangs the tale; that tells the story."

Groaning on a Bed of Agony.

In the throes of rheumatism, which has reached the inflammatory stage, the invalid has just cause to deplore the inefficiency of medicines which could neither uproot the disease at its outstart, nor avert its dreaded climax. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a medicine which, without the danger attending the use of some of the ordinary specifics for this malady, is infinitely more soothing and effective. Used at the start, it checks the progress of the disease, and expels, or neutralizes, the rheumatic virus in the blood. Who so takes its incurs no risk, and is sure to be benefitted. Valuable in rheumatism, it is equally efficacious as a remedy for neuralgia, liver complaint, indigestion, chills and fever, debility, and inactivity of the kidneys and bladder. It may also, be relied upon to promote sleep and appetite.

When asked if it was true that he had never been able to support his wife, he said it was a first-class lie, that he had been in the tea trade and general import and export business with China for several years before he met her. When he married Miss Cameron he claimed he got her to leave the stage, and for fifteen months she never appeared behind the footlights. Shortly after their marriage they went abroad and traveled through Europe, he making the trip partly on business. He claims to have ample funds yet to support both his wife and himself, and stoutly denies that he told Lonsdale that he would go to Morocco if that nobla lord would give him $10,000. Speaking of his trial he said: "This is a deuce of a country, anyhow. Why, there was no evidence against me. It was merely my oath against theirs, and still I'm blessed if the judge didn't lock me up, you know." The bond is to the effect that he will "keep the peace against the people of the State of New York, more especially Violet Lydia Debensaude, for the term of six months, and also appear for trial at the next term of the court of general sessions." He looked so meek as he stood in the court-room that one would deem it entirely unnecessary to bind him over to keep the peace against a full grown Hoboken mosquito.

LORD LONSDALE.

In an interview Saturday night Violet Cameron's husband said that he would sue Lord Lonsdale for $100,000 for alienating the affections of his wife, and would follow her all over the world to watch her movements.

On Nov. 22 a season of one week, Thanksgiving week, will be commenced at the Music hall, Cincinnati, of which the entire profits will be handed over to the Cincinnati College of Music. Following Cincinnati there will be one week at the Exposition Music hall, St. Louis, and two weeks at the Columbia theatre, Chicago. The company will not be heard in New York until Feb. 28, when the season of five weeks open at the Metropolitan opera house. The company claims to be strengthened in every department for the coming season.

A Successful American Opera.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4.—The new American comic opera, "The Mystic Isle," or the "Laws of Average," was successfully produced by Mr. George C. Boetherton, at his new Temple theatre here Saturday night. Never since the first production of opera in this country has a comic opera been received with such unbounded enthusiasm. Mrs. Riegel, a society lady of this city, who made her debut upon the operatic stage as the heroine in the production, made a decided hit, and was the favorite of the evening.

Powderly at Richmond.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 4.—Grand Master Workman Powderly attended high mass at St. Peter's cathedral Sunday. He was accompanied by Messrs. Mullen and Hayes, of the national executive committee. After the services he was invited to a meeting or conference of St. Vincent de Paul society, in the basement of the cathedral, where he was introduced to the members, who greeted him cordially. He addressed the conference briefly, thanking them for the kind reception. Mr. Powderly was kept busy the greater portion of the day receiving visitors, but at night he declined to receive any except Grand Secretary Turner and members of the executive committee.

Could Have Spared Them Both.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 4.—Saturday afternoon on the levee below the French market, Hugh and Matt O'Brien, brothers, both of whom had been drinking heavily, became engaged in a quarrel, during which Matt shot Hugh through the breast, inflicting a fatal wound. It is believed that the brothers had gone to the neighborhood for the purpose of assassinating Louis Fernand, a saloon-keeper, who had excited their enmity by ordering them to keep away from his premises. Before they saw Fernand, however, the quarrel arose between them. Both are well known to the police as men of bad character.

A Michigan Man Cremated.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 4.—The body of John H. Beiner, late of Saginaw, Mich., was cremated at the Buffalo furnace Sunday. Deceased was 28 years old. It was his wish that this disposition be made of his remains.

More Quarantines Against Illinois.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—Minnesota, Dakota and Kentucky have quarantined against Illinois on account of the pleuro-pneumonia at Chicago and elsewhere.

Excitement in Texas.

Great excitement has been caused in the vicinity of Paris, Tex., by the remarkable recovery of Mr. J. E. Corley, who was so helpless he could not turn in bed, or raise his head; every body said he was dying of consumption. A trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery was sent him. Finding relief, he bought a large bottle and a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills; by the time he had taken two boxes of pills and two bottles of the discovery, he was well and had gained in flesh thirty-six pounds.

MRS. CLEVELAND'S MAID

ALLEGED TO BE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE FOLLOWING GOSSIP.

What a Shop-Girl Has to Relate About the "First Lady's" Needlework—A Senator Do Trop—"We Were All That Way Once"—Society Events at the White House To Be Scarce for A while.

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 4.—"You ought to see the Kensington work Mrs. Cleveland is doing," said a White House servant to a correspondent. "Yes, indeed," continued the old colored lady, when surprise was expressed at Mrs. Cleveland's doing needlework; "she is the best I ever saw at it. You wouldn't think she had the time between the society matters and talking to the president, but she made a dozen of the prettiest ornaments already before she went away on her summer trip."

A girl at one of the down-town millinery stores, where stamping is done, says she was surprised the other day, so soon after the mistress of the White House returned from the Adirondacks, and before she left for Buffalo, to hear her inquire what there was new in designs for pillow-shams. A half dozen girls at work on the under-trimmings of the bow cone-shaped fall hats looked up in amazement, but when Mrs. Cleveland, who was with her mother, went out one of them said:

"That's nothing. Mrs. Cleveland has knit her own stockings more times than one, I can tell you. And she has made her dresses, too. Much as she is absorbed with the society of the White House, she has done more work in needle-art than any other fashionable woman in Washington. What is more, she makes her own beds, feeds her birds, and—she sometimes blackens her shoes herself."

The girls laughed and wanted to know where all this fund of information came from, when the speaker replied that she got it from Mrs. Cleveland's maid, and continued:

"Do you know what the president says when his wife shows him what she is doing with the needle? Not Well, he says, 'What a girl!' and sometimes there is a half-suppressed sound, which we all love. Of course, he kisses her pretty often, and I don't blame him. I heard the other day that the president played peek-a-boo one afternoon just as a senator came into his office, and that there was a very rapid movement of someone going out of that office; I mean a lady went out very quick, and the president grew red in the face when the senator held up his hands and said: 'Now, no apologies, Mr. President; we were all that way once.' Mrs. Cleveland is very happy at the White House, and I hope her ambition to stay there another term will be realized.

The girls in the stores where Mrs. Cleveland trades say she is a good buyer and a pleasant customer. One day, while she was shopping for her summer trip, she surprised the girl who waited upon her by exclaiming, when told the price of the article:

"I don't believe you charge everybody so much."

"Yes, indeed; the same price to every one," replied the girl. "But why do you think we should charge you more than other people?"

"Because you think I would not protest," was the answer.

Mrs. Cleveland smiled pleasantly, and the girl, who was very neat and pretty, was taken somewhat aback to learn afterward who her distinguished patron was. Another young lady, who has often waited upon Mrs. Cleveland at a store, was agreeably surprised one morning to be told that she could lay aside for herself a duplicate of the article purchased, "for kindnesses."

A lady who attends nearly all of the dinners, receptions, etc., of the swell order at the White House, was asked by an associate whether there would be many society events at the executive mansion during the coming winter.

"I should think not," was the guarded reply. "Mrs. Cleveland will have her mother with her, and will not, I am told, care to entertain very much. Happily the president and his bride made the best of their opportunities at the time of their marriage and immediately following, giving receptions, etc., to personal friends and the public, and no one will blame them for wanting a little privacy. Mrs. Cleveland will enjoy a season indoors with her maternal ancestor and husband. She will then enjoy the busy season which will come with the season of 1887-88."

Mrs. Cleveland at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 4.—Mrs. Grover Cleveland spent her first Sunday in Buffalo since her departure for Europe a year or more ago, in a very quiet manner. It was given out in the press Saturday that she would attend divine services at the Central Presbyterian church Sunday morning, but she did not do so. The announcement did not draw a large attendance at the services as was expected. The congregation barely filled half of the seats. Mrs. Cleveland remained at the residence of her cousin, Mrs. Alice Folsom, all day.

Justin McCarthy Banquetted.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The banquet in honor of Mr. Justin McCarthy, M. P., under the auspices of the Irish parliamentary fund association, took place Saturday night at the Hoffman house. Judge Edward Browne escorted the guest of the evening into the banquet hall, which was decorated with Irish and American flags. Judge Browne presided, and welcomed the guest of the evening. Mr. McCarthy eloquently returned thanks, and said he would avoid on this occasion political references, he having come to America on a mission for England as well as Ireland—justice for Ireland, mercy for England.

Death of a Prominent Iowan.

OTTUMWA, Iowa, Oct. 4.—Gen. John M. Hedrick, who was stricken with paralysis last Wednesday night, died at 6 o'clock Sunday evening. He was a native of Rush county, Indiana, and had resided in this county forty-one years. He enlisted as lieutenant at the breaking out of the rebellion and was brevet brigadier general when discharged. Besides his service in the field, he was a member of the court-martial which tried the assassins of President Lincoln.

The Episcopal General Convention.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—The triennial assembly or general convention of the Episcopal church in the United States will be held in this city Wednesday. ### What True Merit Will Do.

The unprecedented sale of Boschee's German Syrup within a few years, has astonished the world. It is without doubt the safest and best remedy ever discovered for the speedy and effectual cure of Coughs, Colds and the severest Lung troubles. It acts on an entirely different principle from the usual prescriptions given by physicians, as it does not dry up a Cough and leave the disease still in the system, but on the contrary removes the cause of the trouble, heals the parts affected and leaves them in a purely healthy condition. A bottle kept in the house for use when the diseases make their appearance, will save doctor's bills and a long spell of serious illness. A trial will convince you of these facts. It is positively sold by all druggists and general dealers in the land. Price, 75 cts., large bottles.

HENNEPIN CANAL COMMISSION.

A Board of Engineers Looking Over the Route of the Waterway.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—The board of engineers, consisting of Gen. R. M. Poe, Gen. C. B. Comstock and Maj. J. C. Post, all of the army, appointed under an act of the last session of congress to examine the route for the proposed Hennepin canal, reached the city from Washington Tuesday last. The day following the members of the board took the train to Rock Island, and on the way down gave the country as close an inspection as was possible under the circumstances. During the fore part of Thursday, the country in the vicinity of Rock Island and Watertown was carefully examined, and in the afternoon of the same day the board attended a public meeting at the first-named place, which was held in the interest of the canal scheme, and where its members heard the statements of parties interested in having the canal built. Friday the Meredosia end of the proposed canal was inspected and the river at that point carefully examined, after which the board came to Chicago.

At noon Saturday the members of the board took the steamer Frolic at the intersection of Ashland avenue and the Illinois & Michigan canal for the purpose of inspecting that waterway between here and Joliet. They will be in this city until Tuesday, and a meeting of citizens will be held to confer with them about the enterprise.

BETTER SEND FOR NEWTON.

Attempt to Dynamite a Mountain to Blow Down a Rocky Mountain.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 4.—An attempt to reduce Stone mountain to the level of the surrounding country by means of giant powder was made Saturday afternoon by parties from this city. The mountain in question is located eighteen miles from this place, is 500 feet high, and has a circumference of five miles. It is the largest known bed of rock in the world. A thirty feet shaft was sunk and two tons of giant powder placed therein. A fuse was attached and the mine fired. The result was disappointing. No perceptible change in the contour of the great bed of rock was noticeable. Three months hence another attempt will be made. Excursion trains, containing large crowds of people, were run to the mountain, and they all returned to the city much disappointed at the failure of the blast.

That Gun Is a Dead Loss.

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 4.—The navy department has received information of the bursting of a new eight-inch breech-loading rifle gun, recently built at the navy yard here and sent to Annapolis, Md., for trial. The thirteenth charge—an ordinary charge of powder—burst the gun at the breech. This was the second gun of its size ever made in this country. It was subjected to a rigid examination here, and appearing satisfactory was accepted by the government before it was sent to Annapolis. Having been accepted before trial at Annapolis, the loss will fall on the government.

The Bosh About Emery Storrs.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—The sensational story printed in the St. Paul papers regarding the cause of the sudden death of the late Emery A. ### Groaning on a Bed of Agony.

In the throes of rheumatism, which has reached the inflammatory stage, the invalid has just cause to deplore the inefficiency of medicines which could neither uproot the disease at its outstart, nor avert its dreaded climax. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a medicine which, without the danger attending the use of some of the ordinary specifics for this malady, is infinitely more searching and effective. Used at the start, it checks the progress of the disease, and expels, or neutralizes, the rheumatic virus in the blood. Who so takes its means no risk, and is sure to be benefitted. Valuable in rheumatism, it is equally efficacious as a remedy for neuralgia, liver complaint, indigestion, chills and fever, debility, and inactivity of the kidneys and bladder. It may also, be relied upon to promote sleep and appetite.

THE DAILY NEWSPAPER.

FRANK OPINIONS FROM A MAN WHO IS "IN THE SWIM."

"What do I think of the 'interview' as a feature of the American newspaper?" replied Julius Chambers, The New York Herald correspondent, as he sat on the porch of the West End hotel last night. "When it is well done, the 'interview' is one of the highest examples of literary art; when badly done, it is infamous. It should present a vivid picture of the man or woman with whom the conversation is held; should incidentally depict the talker's mannerisms, physical and mental, and should convey his ideas in the same sequence as he utters them. I mean by this that the 'interview' should not be 'dressed up.' Its English should be that of the speaker not necessarily verbatim, but possessed of the man's characteristics. Do I make myself clear? For example, nearly every man with whom you talk for ten minutes displays a fondness for a pet phrase, or a bizarre word. Treasure that; use it as he does and you set the person off a great deal better than if you described him, by length, breadth and thickness, to the extent of a column. Jolly old Commodore Vanderbilt, for instance, never talked with a young man three minutes without calling him 'my son.' John Boyle O'Reilly, one of the brightest, keenest critics of men and politics in America, exclaims 'Go to!' half a dozen times in a brief chat. He applies it to himself, to his companion, to hypothetical persons, and to idealized specimens of inanimate creation.

MARTYRS TO REALISM.

"A grave and dignified old bank president, whom I knew in the storm and stress' period of my apprenticeship in this business, never forgave me for depicting his idiosyncracies truthfully. He complained most of the undeniable fact that he couldn't break himself of adding to nearly every sentence: 'And so it is.' I was anxious to present a truthful and accurate picture of the old chap, and reproduced his pet phrase, just as a faithful portrait painter must give the wart on his sitter's chin. He never forgave me. So, you see, martyrs to realism and truth still exist." And then we both smiled.

"Should these conversations be reported stenographically?"

"Not stenography is a dead art so far as daily journalism is concerned. It is fatal to the vitality of a conversation. It appears to destroy the marrow in the bones of a really fine talk. A good memory, with a skeletonized frame-work containing dates and proper names, is far better. As for the art of short hand itself, it is a dead fail to ambition. Unless a young man wants to be shelved in court, or to become a private secretary to somebody, he should avoid stenography as he would the plague. It destroys the style of a writer and retards his progress towards a high salary. Stenography is well enough for a man without ideas. It is a good thing for him to learn. The journalist can make use of him. The art of dictating to a stenographer, or to a typewriter, is something to be learned as early as possible, for in hours of great emergency one capable man can accomplish the work of half a dozen less able workers. The success Howard, Townsend and others have attained in that direction shows to what use men with the real stuff in them can put the stenographer. But he plays fourth fiddle, while they wield the baton. That's the stenographer's place, I fear."

THE COMING MAN.

"Who do you regard as the coming man on the American newspaper?" was asked.

"The reporter, unqualifiedly," answered his older brother, the correspondent. "His growth in the sixteen years that I have known him at close range has been marvellous. Look what he has done for the city editor! He has lifted that post to the second place on the staff. A generation hence the reporter will be the best paid—yes, I mean it—and the most respected factor in the business. Please don't say profession when speaking of the art of making the newspaper. It is an abominable expression, and belongs to chiropodists, barn-storming actors and country lawyers. The newspaper is a commercial enterprise. Put of that hereafter.

"We were talking of the reporter! Have you not observed the waning of the 'editorial' page? Of course you have. I tell you, it is doomed! The kid-gloved essayists, who for the past fifty years have furnished platitudes and skimmed-milk advice to nursery maids and 'honest voters,' have had a fall. The people do their own thinking now-a-days, and do it a deuced sight better than most editorial writers. I was an editorial writer myself for two years, and I wrote as badly as any of them; in my own opinion, I was one of the very worst, because I sat down to my work with a sacrifice of self-respect in every instance. It is news that sells papers. I defy anybody to prove that any single 'editorial' article ever sold an additional copy of any one issue of a journal."—Long Branch News.

Very Remarkable Recovery.

SPORT OF CATCHING CRABS.

Different Plans Followed by Fishermen. "Paper Shells" and "Buckrams."

"Do all fishermen follow the same plan?" asked the reporter.

"No; some bait for them, and in Connecticut fishermen spear for them in shallow water with a three-tined fork lashed to a pole. Thousands of crabs are caught every day in the Navesink and Shrewsbury rivers and their creeks with nothing but a scoop net. Fishermen pole their boat along with these nets and scrape up the crabs from the sandy bed of the river at the same time. This kind of crabbing, however, takes a smart fisherman and a strong one. Then there are market crabbers, who use a set line or trawl, baited with meat. They anchor a line nearly 1,500 feet long in a tideway, from which hang several hundred baits. Then starting with the tide they lift the line over the boat and float slowly down its length, gathering in the crabs as they proceed, which they throw into a barrel. When the crab is taken from the line the bait is again thrown over and sinks, so that when the fisherman has traversed the length of his trawl he is ready to row back and float down again as before, which he repeats as many times as possible on that tide. To fill a barrel by this method is an easy thing in a good season."

"That is mud flat crabbing, and lasts every essential to sport. Besides, it is disagreeable. A man must wade in soft, slimy mud up to his knees. Every step he takes he must prod into each of his recent footprints with a pair of wooden tongs. When he feels a crab he pulls it out and drops it into a bag or basket. Trolling is more sport than flat crabbing. A reel line is baited and the crab is played in to shallow water, where it is scooped up in a net. There is considerable sport in trolling for crabs, but as a rule it is not very successful. For excitement another plan is to work in and out among the spiles of a bridge and scoop up the 'doublers,' or males and females that cling to the moss as the tide goes out. By this plan you get an even number of 'doblers' and 'fryers,' as the upper crab is always rather a 'soft shell,' a 'paper shell' or a 'buckram.'"

"Once a month in the summer the crab discards his armor. He feels he is growing too large to still wear the same coat and sets about getting a new and a larger one, after making for himself an elastic set of underclothing, which covers him from his finger tips, so to speak, up to and over his eyeballs. Meanwhile he assumes a bilious hue, and in this state proves seductive bait for the angler in quest of weakfish or bass. It is not the flavor that renders him good for bait, but it is this same tough suit of underclothing. The soft or hard crab will not hang to a hook. When he puts on this undersuit he is known as a 'comer.' It takes about two days to grow this inner skin and then the crab becomes a 'shedder.' In another day he pulls out the bolt from the rear of his shell, and firmly gripping a piece of grass or seaweed, backs entirely out of his shell. Seemingly it is a painful process, and often while the 'shedder' is taking off his five pairs of trousers, as it were, he will be encouraged and assisted by sympathizing friends. In this state he is looked upon as an agreeable accompaniment to a slice of nicely-browned roast, if rolled in egg or cracker crumbs, and fried in seething hot butter or olive oil. If he remains twenty-four hours in the water after crawling from his too contracted shell his skin absorbs enough lime to give it a stiffness like that of writing paper. Then he is known as 'paper shell,' and in another day his skin becomes still more tough and he becomes a 'buckram' or a 'buckler.'"—N. Y. Mail and Express.

A Joke on the Parson.

Thomas K. Beecher used to visit his hermit brother occasionally; he was much concerned over James' decision to hold himself aloof from the world, and added to the nubition to try to tempt James back to the pulpit again; Thomas K. found other pleasing labors; nowhere in all the world do the fish bite better or fight more gallantly; nowhere is the hunting superior in all the Catskills. It was only the Hardenberg native that the Elmira clergyman did not dote on. Once he let the Beecher in him ooze out at his pen point and a letter was printed by a New York city journal making fun of James' neighbors. Not long after he visited the Beecher lake hermitage. By some mischance a copy of that New York paper, Thomas K.'s letter and all, got into the neighborhood; the natives reveled in it, and Thomas K. became thenceforth a marked man. It was his intention to stay but one day and night on this last visit, and he had ventured up into the backwoods without baggage. The clothes he wore were all he brought. It was summer, and when the Rev. Thomas K. retired for the night he tossed his clothes across the window sill. The natives had learned of his visit. When he woke up next morning he was minus coat, trousers and vest. There was but one thing to do—to borrow attire from his brother. It wasn't a fashionable suit that he was obliged to don. The cut wasn't modern and the fit was woefully startling. Three different kinds of cloth, three different colors of cloth, were in their make-up, and each article of the suit was considerably the worse for wear, while the trousers were radiant in big broad patches fore and aft.—Hakston" in New York Times.

Jewels in the Treasury Vault.

There are comparatively few jewels stored in the treasury vaults at Washington, and how these jewels came there no one can tell. Among the valuables is an old sword with jeweled hilt and golden chain. No one can tell to whom it belonged, but it is a relic of the revolution, and was probably captured and given to the government, but locked up with the treasures instead of being sent to the museum. There are two or three small bottles filled with precious stones, but these are sealed up and no one knows their value. They may be "stage jewels" for all the keepers know. In the box where these trinkets are kept is a curious old bottle containing attar of roses. It is variously claimed to be worth from $100 to $100,000. Often when the box is struck and jarred or moved the sweet odor of the attar of roses permeates the vaults and lingers about the cold corridors for days. These, together with a few little golden trinkets, make up the jewels of the treasury.—Chicago Herald.

Wealthy Gypsies in Ohio.

The Dayton, O., gypsies are very wealthy, a tribe of about fifty or seventy-five owning three or four magnificent farms, all well stocked and equipped with fine buildings. It is estimated that in all they are worth several millions of property, cash, mortgages, bonds and other securities. They cultivate their land during the summer.—Chicago Times.

Sprinkling Streets With Petroleum.

The people of Ventura, Cal., are going to try a novel experiment in sprinkling the streets with crude petroleum instead of water. It is thought that oil, after two or three sprinklics, will lay the dust for months.—Pioneer Press.

The great mass of mankind can only gape and wonder; if they attempt to think they grow listless and soon tire out.—Uncle Esek.

Watching Home Rulers in Canada.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 4.—For some time past the Dominion government have been watching with considerable suspicion several members of the civil service who are in sympathy with the home rule party in Ireland and whom it was feared were endeavoring to sow seeds of sedition among the other government officials. In view of this an order was issued Saturday compelling every member of the civil service to take an oath of allegiance to the queen. The minutes of proceedings of the St. Patrick's society were recently stolen and it is asserted that they were taken by a detective who joined the society for that purpose, the object of the government being to obtain evidence of disloyalty against the members. Other members who are government employes are closely watched by detectives.

Frost Ruins the Tobacco.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Oct. 4.—There was a heavy frost Saturday morning. Vegetation is badly damaged. A large part of the tobacco crop will be ruined. Reports from Hopkinsville and Franklin, Ky.; Clarksville, Tenn., and Danville, this state, and other points, tell the same story.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 4.—There was no injury to tobacco by Friday night's frost in the southern belt. In Piedmont, Va., the damage was slight, not enough to make material difference.

Beginning to Like It in Indiana.

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 4.—President Edgerton, of the civil service commission, has returned to this city from Indiana, completely restored to health. He says that in Indiana, where civil service reform was received with open hostility, the movement is growing rapidly in favor, and now meets with toleration in places where formerly it was a subject of derision.

A QUESTION ABOUT

Brown's Iron Bitters

ANSWERED.

The question has probably been asked thousands of times, "How can Brown's Iron Bitters cure everything?" Well, it doesn't. But it does cure any disease for which a reputable physician would prescribe Iron. Physicians recognize Iron as the best restorative agent known to the profession, and inquiry of any leading medical man will be found to be unanimous that there are more preparations of iron than of any other substance used in medicine. This alone confessedly most important fact is acknowledged to be the most important factor in successful medical practice. It is, however, a remarkable fact, that prior to the discovery of BROWN'S IRON BITTERS no perfectly satisfactory iron combination had ever been found.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS does not injure the teeth, cause headache, or produce constipation—all other iron medicines do. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS cures Indigestion, Biliousness, Weakness, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Chills and Fevers, Tired Feeling, General Debility, Pain in the Side, Back or Limbs, Headache and Neuralgia—for all these ailments Iron is prescribed daily.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS however does more—it cures in a minute. Like all other thorough medicines, it acts slowly. When taken by one the first symptom of benefit is renewed energy. The nourishment becomes firmer, the digestion improves, the bowels are active. In women the effect is usually more rapid and marked. The eyes begin at once to brighten; the skin clears up; healthy color comes to the cheeks; nervousness disappears; functional derangements become regular, and if a nursing mother, abundant sustenance is supplied for the child. Remember Brown's Iron Bitters is the ONLY iron medicine that is not injurious. Physicians and Druggists recommend it.

—Sheriff Hanthorn and J. B. Doe, Jr. have joined hands on the biggest hunting story of the season. They claim that during the short time that they were out last Saturday afternoon they shot forty-seven snipe and six ducks. The question among the boys is why they stopped on an odd number.

—As Mrs. Emmett Addy and Mrs Charles Butterfield were driving over the Academy street railroad crossing this morning, a wheel caught in the track and all but one or two spokes were broken off at the hub. —The Woman's Foreign Mission circle of Court Street church will meet in the Sunday school room Wednesday afternoon, October 6th, at 3:30 o'clock, promptly. Officers for the year will be elected. —There came near being a vacancy in the Shopiere postoffice this morning. Postmaster Haynes, of that village, was driving a team with a load of grain through the alleyway west of the Janesville postoffice, when suddenly one of the wagon wheels dropped into a rut, throwing the seat and postmaster to the ground. The postmaster fell just in front of one of the wheels. The team was instantly stopped and a fatal accident avoided. The alleyway is greatly out of repair, and it should be the business of some one in authority to see that it is put in passable condition.

—A report comes back from the northern part of the state that is causing the friends of the of the Angle Worm club much anxiety. The rumor is that while one of the club men was hunting deer in company with a native and the chase was just drawing toward the end he very imprudently led the ace of diamonds when that card had already been played by his opponent. It is said that in the confusion caused by this, half of the deer escaped and was found the next day hung up on a nail in the Angle Worm headquarters. If the report is true something sensational will probably follow.

A Baking Powder Trick.

The Chicago firm, under whose directions the band of women are "testing" our baking powders, has hit upon a very cunning trick. The "test" as performed by these ladies, is to mix the baking powder they peddle and that found in the kitchen with water, separately, and call attention to the difference of action. That found in the kitchen, if pure, will foam up quickly like champagne. The baking powder they desire to prove superior will rise slowly, foaming like new yeast, over the top of the glass. This slower action results from the presence of flour, albumen or a gum in their baking powder, and is evidence of adulteration. To prove this fill a glass half full of water, mix together equal parts of flour and some pure baking powder, pour into the water and stir quickly. There will be produced precisely the same effect—the slow, foaming action—produced by the tests with the adulterated baking powder as made by our lady missionaries from Chicago. The effect will be even heightened by adding a little lime, such as the baking powder carried by the ladies and the other low grade adulterated powders contain. Of course, any statements made in reference to other baking powders, by parties caught in practicing such tricks as these for the purpose of deceiving the public, will be entitled to no credit.

OBITUARY.

ALEX. S. BELL.

Another of Rock county's prominent citizens, Alex. S. Bell, died at his home in Johnstown Center, on Saturday evening aged 58 years. Mr. Bell was born in Roxburgh county, Scotland, in 1828, he came to America with his parents in 1844; to Rock county in 1857, and purchased what was then known as the Babcock farm in Johnstown, consisting of 240 acres of land. Of late years he was engaged as a stock-feeder for the Chicago market, and as such he handled many cattle. Mr. Bell had suffered from heart disease for many years, and in addition to that trouble he was attacked on Sunday last with hemorrhage from the stomach and bowels, which greatly prostrated him, but from which he partially rallied On Saturday afternoon last internal hemorrhage returned and he died at 8 o'clock in the evening. Mr. Bell was widely known and respected in Rock county for his many manly qualities, and especially was this the case in his own neighborhood. He leaves a wife and one daughter to mourn the loss of a kind and affectionate husband and father.

The funeral will take place at Johnstown Center at two o'clock to-morrow (Tuesday) afternoon.

FRED SHURTLEFF.

Only three weeks ago a little one came to gladden the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Shurtleff of the fourth ward. Now that home is shrouded in mourning, for the bud that lent its bloom for so short a time has been plucked by the hand of death. The parents will receive the sympathy of everyone, although even this makes the burden of their affliction but little lighter to bear. The interment will take place at Lodi and short services will be held at the home at eleven o'clock to-morrow morning.

JOHN ALVERSON.

At his home in the town of Rock, yesterday, John Alverson, an old settler in Rock county, closed his eyes in the sleep that dulls all pain and quiets all cares. He had been an invalid much of the time since three years ago, when he was stricken with paralysis, but had borne his sufferings very patiently, and approached the end without fear. The afflicted family will receive much sympathy.

Albany.

—Mr. T. H. Smith, special agent of the North British and Mercantile insurance company, was in town on Friday, for the purpose of adjusting the losses of that company at Albany on the 27th. Mr. Smith is a first class insurance adjuster, a thorough gentleman, winsome and pleasing in his manners, wide awake to the interests of his company, and at the same time embued with a spirit of generosity to extend to the utmost every farthing justly due the insured. His courteous demeanor won him many friends.

—Mr. L. H. Warren returned Saturday, from a trip to Nebraska in the interests of the Western Stage company.

—Choice peach blow potatoes, last week, brought 80 cents per bushel in a retail way. Demand fairly active.

Hon. Robert M. La Folette, of the Third district, will address the citizens of Albany and vicinity on the "Live issues of the day", at Grange hall, Albany, Tuesday evening, Oct. 5. It is to be regretted that no larger audience room is obtainable, the late fire having robbed Albany of her opera house. Grange hall will be found wholly inadequate to contain but a tithe of those who would pay homage by their presence to the "Little Giant, of Wisconsin," whose noble record is now a matter of national history. The Third district will see to it that Mr. La Folette is returned to Washington to continue a career of usefulness as champion of republicanism, and in vindication of his manly defense of justice in the halls of congress.

—J. W. Hick's safe was not burglarized as the account would indicate. The safe was opened last week, books and papers O. K. The origin of the fire is still a matter of speculation with no probability of arriving at a solution of the mystery.

—A family reunion was held at the residence of Mr. W. S. Peckham, of Albany on Thursday 26th, in honor of the 86th birthday of the aged mother, who was once more happily permitted to witness the assembling together under the parental roof, and of welcoming her nine children, which constitutes all the family now living. Like very many other families, the representatives of this family have become scattered and reside in distant parts of the country, two in Kansas, three in Nebraska, one in northern Wisconsin, the aged mother and three children residing in Albany.

—Heavy frosts Thursday and Friday nights. Ice formed an eighth of an inch thick.

—S. A. Pond, Esq., of Janesville, visited Albany last week, the guest of Dr. and Mrs. I. A. Nichols.

—Mr. R. H. Hewitt, of St. Louis, was a welcome visitor here at his former home on Saturday. He was the guest of his son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Hewitt, of this place. Mrs. R. H. Hewitt and daughter, Miss Maggie Bishop, of Cawker City, Kas., who preceded Mr. Hewitt a few days, and who had been visiting friends and relatives, also took their departure for home to-day.

—Rev. Francis Howarth, who has ably filled the pulpit of the M. E. church for the past two years, was last month transferred to the Rock River conference, and by that body transferred to Milton. ### AT THE CHURCHES.

A Discourse on the Recent Changes in Japan—Various Sunday Services.

Japan, not the slow-going island of years gone by but the country of to-day, was the subject spoken upon by the Rev James H. Pettee, at the Congregational church last evening. Mr. Pettee said that in no nation of modern times had there been so many changes in the past few years as in Japan. He who is now at the head of the government is one of the most progressive statesmen of the age. The postal system is a modern one. Railways, electric lights and all the other modern conveniences are firmly established; and it is in the matter of education alone that the people are ahead of their country. One thing that held Japan back was the lack of business ability among her citizens. The nation has always been a collection of groups in which everything was conducted on the socialistic principle, all property being held in common; and it is only of late years that this has been realized to be entirely unfit for the times.

Twenty seven years ago when the protestant missionaries first went there they met with great opposition for it had been over two hundred years since the order had gone forth to drive christianity from the islands. In twelve years only ten converts were made, but now after fifteen years more they are coming in by the thousands. Japan is treated very unfairly in the treaties now in force. They were designed to deal with the condition of affairs thirty years ago and there is no provision made for changes. She would work out her own salvation were it not for this; but, as it is, if left to herself there is great fear that some low standard of christianity would be formally adopted in order to secure more international rights. The experiences in European countries would be repeated people would rush into the churches without regard to their personal beliefs add a terrible amount of harm would be done. Besides the need of work to prevent this, there must be a stubborn fight made against atheism and agnosticism which came in with the advancement of the educational standards. The doctrine set forth by Herbert Spencer and those of his school is read by the higher classes before they even hear of the Bible. Mr. Pettee's discourse was a valuable one and was listened to with much interest.

At the Court Street M. E. church yesterday morning the Rev. T. DeWitt Peake spoke upon "Fishing for Men." He said that as a fisherman knows the sea so one who is fishing for men must know the world. In order to catch fish he must attract them and he cannot do this with stale bait. If an army was to march up in front of an empty fort and make a furious attack, leaving unmolested a fort that was filled with soldiers, it would be considered very foolish, but is it not equally foolish for a minister to preach against the sins of a thousand years ago instead of the sins of to-day?

The Rev. Thomas Walker, at the First M. E. church, spoke last evening upon "The Ministrations of the Angels." He claimed that the angels are interested in man's redemption; that they act as messengers to the faithful, and that they are set to guard and protect those on earth. He supported each point by quotations from the scriptures.

The Silent Force of Thought.

The character of thought we think or put out affects our business favorably or unfavorably. It influences others for or against us. It is an element felt pleasantly or unpleasantly by others, inspiring them with confidence or distrust.

The prevailing state of mind or character of thought shapes the body and features. It makes us ugly or pleasing, attractive or repulsive to others. Our thought shapes our gestures, our mannerism, our walk. The least movement of muscle has a mood of mind, a thought, behind it. A mind always determined has always a determined walk. A mind always weak, shifting, vacillating and uncertain makes a shuffling, shambling, uncertain gait. The spirit of determination braces every muscle. It is the thought element of determination filling every muscle.

Look at the discontented, gloomy, melancholy and ill-tempered men or women, and you see in their faces proofs of the action of this silent force of their unpleasant thought cutting, carving and shaping them to their present expression. Such people are never in good health, for that force acts on them as poison and creates some form of disease. A persistent thought of determination on a purpose, especially if such purpose be of benefit to others as well as ourselves, will fill every nerve with strength. It is a wise selfishness that works to benefit others along with ourselves.—Prentice Mulford's "White Cross Library."

Iron ore has been discovered at a point about ten miles east of Rice Lake. After having sunk a shaft to the depth of thirty feet through hard-pan, a formation of soapstone six feet thick was struck, dipping to the west, showing that the vein runs about northeast-south west, the same as the Gogebic. Lying under this formation is the ore, the depth of the vein being a problem. The ore, however, gets better in quality as the depth of the shaft increases.

WILKES TAKES THE STAKE.

Great Trotting Event at Chicago—The Fight for the Ball Pennant—Notes.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—The trotting race a Washington park Saturday was witnessed by about 10,000 people, and the day being fine the park was filled with the elite of the city. The track was fast and in fine condition. The betting was all in favor of Oliver K. before the start and Belle F. was set down for the tail of the race. A good start was obtained after the third score for first heat, and Wilkes went to the front at once and was never headed, although Oliver pressed him closely for a short time on the home stretch; but he responded to his driver's call and went under the wire two lengths ahead; time 2:16¼. The second heat was a repetition of the first, Wilkes going to the front from the start and staying there. The end of the heat was close, however, Oliver being behind only half a length and Belle F. barely saving her distance; time, 2:17¼. The third heat was the closest of the three, all three horses trotting in a bunch, with Wilkes in the lead and the others lapping. At the half, Belle F. dropped out and at the three quarters Wilkes and Oliver were nearly on even terms, but Wilkes put on a tremendous burst of speed and left his competitor behind a length at the wire; time, 2:16¼.

There were a number of well-known horsemen at the park to see the race, among whom were J. I. Case and Orrin Hickox.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Saturday's racing at Jerome park showed the following winners: Gleaner, 1 1-16 miles, 1:51½; Laggard, ¾ mile, 1:17¼; Climax, 1¼ miles, 1:58½; Volante, 1¼ miles, 2:12½; Little Minnie, 1 mile, 1:45½; Major Pickett, steeplechase, full course, 4:32.

In consequence of the decision of the corporation counsel prohibiting betting at Jerome park, there will be no more racing there this fall. This meeting will be continued at Gravesend, commencing next Tuesday.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 4.—At Latonia race course Saturday, the stakes were captured by the following horses: Kennebec, ⅞ mile, 1:32; Lisland, ¾ mile, 1:16¾; Sir Joseph, 1 mile, 70 yards, 1:47, beating Jim Gray; Flora L., 1 1-16 miles, 1:51½; M. Regent, 1⅝ miles, 2:54.

Chicago's Slim Chance of Losing the Pennant.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—The base ball season is nearly over, and the schedule is in just such a condition that there is still a chance of Detroit taking the pennant, although the chance is a slim one. With five games to the good, Chicago must win two games of those she has to play—six in number, while if Detroit loses one game she loses the trophy. The Detroits have to play the Philadelphias and Washingtons, while Chicago has the Boston and New York clubs to tackle. The schedule stands as follows: Chicago—Games won 87, games lost 31; Detroit—won 82, lost 34; New York—won 70, lost 44; Philadelphia—won 67, lost 42; Boston—won 52, lost 59; St. Louis—won 43, lost 73; Kansas City—won 29, lost 84; Washington—won 25, lost 87.

In the American association the St. Louis club have undoubtedly secured the pennant, having a lead of eleven games. There will no doubt be a series of games played for the world's championship between Chicago (if she wins the league pennant) and St. Louis. The association schedule is as follows: St. Louis—Games won 86, games lost 43; Pittsburg—won 75, lost 55; Brooklyn—won 71, lost 60; Louisville—won 65, lost 63; Cincinnati—won 60, lost 68; Athletic—won 55, lost 73; Metropolitan—won 49, lost 73; Baltimore—won 47, lost 76.

Saturday's league games were as follows: At Washington City—Chicago 5, Washington 4—seven innings, darkness; at New York Detroit 6, New York 5—seven innings, darkness; at Philadelphia—St. Louis 1, Philadelphia 3; at Boston—Kansas City 2, Boston 9. American association; At Pittsburg—Allegheny 4, Brooklyn 6; at St. Louis—Metropolitan 2, St. Louis 5; at Louisville—Baltimore 3, Louisville 7; at Cincinnati—Athletic 1, Cincinnati 13. Sunday's association games: At St. Louis—Metropolitan 4, St. Louis, 5; at Louisville—Baltimore 5, Louisville 5—seven innings, darkness; at Cincinnati—Cincinnati 6, Athletic 7.

Sporting Notes.

In the injunction case of Smith, the base ball pitcher of the Newark club, whom the Detroits secured for their club, the judge ruled Saturday that unless the Detroit club agreed not to put Smith on the reserve list at the end of the season the injunction restraining him from playing with that club must stand. The result was that Smith is to go to New York at the end of the season.

The American yacht Thetis beat the British yacht Stranger over a 30-mile course at Marblehead, Mass., Saturday, 9 minutes and 23 seconds.

Twelve thousand persons witnessed George beat Cummings in an eight-mile race at Birmingham, England, Saturday. One of Cummings' legs was shaky and he dropped out of the race at the fifth mile. George finished in 41:21 1-5.
